In an Artist's Own Words - Debi Bond

Currently living in Hendersonville, my husband and I are enjoying the beautiful North Carolina mountains. With the children grown, we have downsized from an 8-acre horse farm to condo living. Living in the mountains has also invited a more relaxed lifestyle, enjoying quiet mornings with coffee on the balcony, and the beautiful fall foliage just outside the windows.

In my early years I dabbled in charcoal, pastels and oil painting. But as I grew up... life happened and my hobby went on hold. Thirty years later I rediscovered my love of art and began painting, this time with acrylics. Much to my surprise, my eye seems to be drawn to the beauty of the female form, the flow of a pouring a cocktail, and the brilliant depth of color in flowers. I find these beautiful and sensual pieces to paint. I love using brilliant colors and the occasional twist of humor in my work.

I started picking up my brush again in the autumn of 2011, and have been filling up my home with various styles of art. I'm not only enjoying creating my works, it seems I have created a gallery out of my home where many of my works hang.
